Our theme

MAKE A DIFFERENCE

PATIENT-ORIENTED RESEARCH

Where different trends converge

- Learning health system
- Research in real-world contexts
- Recognition of the experiential knowledge of patients, users, and other partners
- Implementation science

PATIENT-ORIENTED RESEARCH

What is it?

PATIENT

- Any person who has personally experienced a health problem
- Includes family caregivers

PATIENT-ORIENTED RESEARCH

Research continuum involving:

- Patients-as-partners
- Multidisciplinary teams
- Various stakeholders

The aim of POR is to apply knowledge to improve health systems and practices.

METHODOLOGICAL SUPPORT UNITS

Objectives

- Define the needs of patients and knowledge users to facilitate research
- Provide a critical mass of methodological expertise that is multidisciplinary and highly specialized in SPOR
- Help decision-makers and researchers to design appropriate studies
- Further the development of methodologies and training in research on comparative effectiveness
- Provide rapid access to linked data and integrate existing or new databases

Our history, our mission

QUEBEC SPOR SUPPORT UNIT

The Quebec SPOR-SUPPORT UNIT

The missing link in Quebec's research infrastructure

Permanent infrastructure

Support for POR

Improved health outcomes for patients

Priority given to primary care

Integration of care and services pathways

CONCRETELY

What we don't do...

- We do not fund individual research projects
- We do not provide operating funds for research projects or programs
- The funds available are not used to subsidize research projects

CONCRETELY

What we do...

- We develop POR capacity
- We help researchers carry out the best POR studies
- We foster mobilization and pairing of partners around high-priority research issues for Quebec
